Class Poem

What will a Senior find to say
When he has come to his last day?
How can he put into words — bare words
Feelings too deep for saying?

Days which we always thoroughly enjoyed;
No day was entirely of happiness devoid.
Days to remember in the days still ahead
When we are old and graying.

Thoughts of the times when a teacher was right
And succeeded in making us see the light;
Thoughts of the times when a teacher was wrong — (!)
These we will remember a lifetime.

Dances that meant "sink or swim"
To a treasury already too slim!
Dances that meant new romances begun
In spring, winter, fall — any old time!

Memories of four years so full of delight
Which we recall on this our class night,
Memories sprinkled with tears now and then —
It's always the same story.

Recollections of classmates who meant a great deal,
The ones who were true, sincere, helpful, and real;
Recollections of teammates who played the game
For the honor instead of the glory.

Tasks that were fun like rehearsals for plays,
Except when you got to the very last days;
Tasks that were hard like collecting class dues,
Or selling hot dogs on a Wednesday in Lent.

The proms in the gym of the Y.M.C.A.,
The dancing couples, laughing and gay;
The trips we took later, piled into the cars,
Then arriving home exhausted and spent.

Daydreams of the future to come
All bright and delightfully gay for some;
Yet who can say who will lead the way,
On whom will we depend?

And now we go on to meet destiny
What our fate is we cannot foresee.
The time has passed, and now we must leave;
Farewell to Lewis! The hill we now descend.

What will a Senior find to say
When he has come to his last day?
How can he put into words — bare words
Feelings too deep for saying?

Class History

Lewis High School
1950

Dear Mary,

You should have seen how surprised I was when I came home from school today and found your letter waiting for me. As soon as I saw it, the handwriting looked familiar, and yet, for a moment, I couldn't quite place it. After I'd opened it and found that it was from you, I wondered how I could ever have forgotten your writing. But it's been a long time now, almost two years since you moved away, and much has happened since then.

You asked about the kids and school. Well, the kids haven't changed much since you left except that we're all older, and maybe, just a mite more serious. But, on the whole, we're still the same kids you knew when you were one of us. As for the activities, I'll try to give you a brief picture of what has happened. I'm including the two years you spent here, too — I'm in a reminiscing mood — You don't mind, do you?

It seems only yesterday that we set forth as frightened Freshmen and suddenly here we are, rushing to finish "The Chronicle," making plans for class night and graduation, and, most important of all, having our troubles in trying to balance our budget. Every spare second of our time is so crammed with last minute preparations that we don't have time to keep up with the calendar. I'll bet that most of us still don't realize how close graduation is.

Remember our Freshman year? That was the life! Nothing can top the fun we had at the "Welcome Dance" the Seniors gave us. I'll never forget the torture they put us through; and yet, looking back now, it doesn't seem half bad. The shoes! Remember how they put all our shoes in a big heap in the center of the dance floor? I still have the pathetically mismated pair I got back instead of my own.

Tommy Andrews, our perennial favorite, was elected president and Carolyn Thayer was unanimously voted into the vice-presidency. Mary Carbone got the job that offered the best chance for improvement — the task of guarding our "bulging" treasury. Gladys Dudzik was the official scribe and kept records in our new log book.

The great Seniors condescendingly honored us lowly Frosh by allowing us to choose two pages for their St. Valentine's Dance. Gladys Dudzik and Edgie Knapp were the lucky ones. Remember how nice they looked? And then, not too long after, came Spring and our "May Day Dance." You were on the committee with me, weren't you? The theme, of course, was gay and lovely Spring. We sure were proud of our first dance, weren't we?

Nancy Rodriguez did a "super" job writing up us poor "Frosh" for "Ye Olde Emblem" while we got our bearings and a little self-confidence Sophomore year, when we were formerly ordained "Wise Fools."

Jerry Kelly was elected "Chief Wise Fool" and Edgie Knapp backed him up as our vice-President. "Amy" Wendt took over the record book from Gladys Dudzik and since "Chuck" Carbone hadn't lost or stolen any of our class wealth, we unanimously elected her to guard our money bags again. Jean Beck was voted in to steer the Emblem column.

The "Heavenly Dance" we gave in November was really heavenly. Remember how we danced dreamily 'neath the paper stars in the "Y" while Miss Halloran, our advisor, had a hectic time trying to guard the floor lamps?

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

The success of this dance filled us with confidence and we eagerly accepted the opportunity to sponsor a Christmas dance. Almost magically the "Y" became Christmas land, and, amidst the Christmas tree, wreaths, and mistletoe, there was an overflowing abundance of Christmas spirit. When Santa arrived to join the fun, the peak of perfection was reached. Two months later, in February Mary Benson and Earle Cooley were chosen to represent our class as the Sophomore pages for the Senior St. Valentine's Dance.

Our one big social fling of the year was the "Gay Nineties Review Dance" we gave. The hilarious time we had, plus the oh-so-needed profit we grossed, seems almost too good to be true even today.

And then after a long "delicious" summer vacation came our Junior year! It was really funny to see us trying to appear suave and nonchalant about being Juniors while we were so excited that it stuck out all over us. Most of our classmates were still with us, but a few, like you, had moved away. At long last we were no longer more Freshmen or "Sophs" but upper classmen with enough authority to boss those lowly "Frosh." Joe Sabatella was put in as president. "Chuck" Carbone decided she had guarded our wealth too long and we happily promoted her to "Veep." Gladys Dudzik, after a year's rest, took over keeping our history again. Earl Schabel got the job of guarding our vaults and we hired Earle Cooley as professional Junior snoop for "The Emblem."

Our social doings really got big that year. At last we were allowed to sponsor three dances, with the long awaited Junior Prom heading the list. Sebby White's orchestra supplied the music and tho' it took place in the "Y" we know so well, it seemed as if we were really dancing under a Southern moon.

Once more the Seniors allowed us to select two pages for their traditional St. Valentine's Dance. This year Carolyn Thayer and Jerry Kelly were our snappy envoys. Shortly after this the faithful sons of Ireland among us voted to hold a St. Patrick's Day Dance. We dressed the "Y" up in green and white streamers with shamrocks all over the place. It went over big because of the support given by the O'Tomasiewiczskis and other sons of Dublin.

As usual the Junior Recital rolled around again, only this time we sat up and took notice for we were the Juniors. Tommy Andrews carried away the boy's prize and Phyllis Chestler the girls' award. Not much later we got a brainy idea and sponsored a novel "Lolly Pop Hop" with the music by Vic Trola. After that the time just melted away and before we knew it, it was time for the Seniors to graduate and our turn to bid farewell. As a last salute to them we held a Senior Farewell Dance. After it was over we all felt funny inside 'cause we know that our turn was next.

The summer days never passed more quickly. Suddenly out of nowhere came Labor Day and — you guessed it — school! Returning seemed no different from other years except that we were older. Nothing had changed much; even the creak in the stairs near the office remained the same. And yet, somehow, we all forgot to do the usual back-to-school griping. Then it dawned on us! At long last we were the "big wheels" among the student body. It felt good to know our way around, even to acting bored about the first day to impress the Freshmen.

Elections were old stuff by now. Since Miss Halloran, who had been our class advisor for our first three years, had left, we were faced with the problem of securing another advisor as capable as she. This turned out to be a relatively insignificant problem when we heard that Miss Hannifin had returned after a two year leave. We elected this unlucky object of our affections to succeed Miss Halloran.

The year started off with a bang! While the Freshmen were still bewildered, we gave them a bang up welcome dance. It was fun not to be on the receiving end for a change. The "Frosh" were good sports and the dance was proclaimed successful by all.

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

For quite some time then strange noises were reported coming from Lewis High at night. Then we found out why. The kids who were in the Senior Play had been practicing it there. Finally, on January 6th and 7th, they presented their play, "The Time of Their Lives," to two packed audiences at the Falcon Hall. It couldn't have turned out better. Joe Yurcak was responsible for all the props and gave the cast the perfect setting it needed. Patty Baehr as Gladys, and Norman Matthews as Archie Weston, with the support of an excellent cast, did a de-luxe job of it. And I don't think those who saw it will forget for a long time, Tommy "Supercalafagilistic" Andrews' antics as Junior Allslap.

February came quickly with its chill winds and freezing snows. Our general attitude was, "Ho hum, time for the Seniors to give their St. Valentine's Dance." Then suddenly, "Hey, wait a minute! We're the Seniors!" we remembered. We began immediate preparations. Cupid was in his glory amidst all the hearts and streamers at the "Y" this Saint Valentine's Day. No longer were we bothered with choosing pages. That was for the lower classmen. We had the bigger doings of choosing a king and queen to rule the court. Although it was close, the royalty was selected. "Rit" O'Hala reigned as King of St. Valentine and Lois Gemmell was his queen.

Although it seems only a short time since then, it is over a month. The days are passing faster and faster. Before we know it, Class Night and Graduation will be here. Kay Hayes, our senior Emblem reporter, is already preparing her column for the last issue of the Emblem. Miss Hannifin, who, since we elected her advisor, claims that she does nothing but see, hear, talk to, help, and even dream about seniors, seniors, seniors!!! — will soon be rid of us.

Looking back, it has been a good year. The senior fellows like Kucinkas, Albrecht, and Fortier were priceless in helping our football team win the state championship. Knapp, Fusco, and O'Hala are doing a commendable job on the basketball court.

We still have the Senior Farewell Dance for us Seniors to look forward to. In a few more months we, the last class to graduate from Lewis High School, will leave these halls. And sooner than we realize, the secret motto we made up for Lewis, "Abandon ye who enter here all hope for leisure," will soon be a fond memory. We leave satisfied in knowing that next year Southington's new School, the one we just missed, will officially be born.

Well, I'm all tired out from writing you this long letter, Mary, so I'll close, not for now, but forever.

Your classmate,

"SAMMY"

Class Will

Whee! The class of 1950, being of sound and little else, do declare this to be our last will and testament before leaving the peculiar world of high school for a world which, we hear and we hope, is better.

To the following:

MR. D'ANGELO	You gave it to us with no apathy — We return it to you — our "Sympathy"!
MISS BARRY	Pour notre professeur, Mlle. Ba-ree Le cathedral, Notre Dame de Pa-ree.
MISS HEAFY	You'll need these stilts to make you tall So you won't be knocked down in the hall.
MISS BEDFORD	We think you deserve, in all propriety An honorary membership in the Honor Society.
MISS COLLINS	Each cheerleader has her megaphone; We think Miss C. may need one of her own.
MR. BOLAND	Perhaps these ear-plugs will be able to serve you When study-hall chatter begins to unnerve you.
MR. RATHBUN	Please accept your crullers and also a pun: The baker never heard of a Rathbun.
MRS. FONTANA	Your charming grace on all you bestow; A book on etiquette will aid you, we know.
MISS SHOREY	Here's the sun lotion for Miss Shorey's tan. She can use it if anyone can!
MISS WALSH	Her bowling club is famous by now; Miss Walsh with this miniature pin we endow.
MR. FONTANA	What is more than mere routine You'll see inside this magazine.
MR. SMALL	Something new (we hope) for Mr. Small: For his produce, a carry-all.
MR. MACSORLEY	You wear out all your shop aprons so fast We leave you one, guaranteed to last.
MISS HANNIFIN	"Be kind to me!" she begs, she pleads And almost on her knees. But still her poor heart breaks and bleeds And stifled are her pleas.

We thwart her wishes, spoil her plans;
We're heedless of her word,
And if our thoughts of fun she bans
Our tempers soon are spurred.

She works and helps us through our plights,
Worries when we fear.
She straightens out our little fights;
Small wonder she's so dear!

And so to show her what she means
To us, we leave a pin
To her, promoter of our schemes;
Of course! Miss Hannifin!

- MRS. PRIOR You expected something to sew, and so
We hope we've surprised you with this little pie crow.
- MR. JOYAL You always call strikes, like that man in blue;
His umpire's cap we will to you.
- MR. MUCCI The Halogen sisters hold all your affection;
Add sweet "Noreen-Susie" to your collection.
- MR. PHELAN While we're all farewellin' and hailin'
Here's our song of cheer for Mr. Phelan.
- MISS BEACH In the new school you'll carry on soon;
Here is an order for a music room.
- MRS. ARMOND In every Prophecy, someone takes your place;
Here's Scotch Tape to help you keep it with grace.
- MR. STRONG We leave a tape to Mr. Strong
To see if he's really three yards long!
- MISS BRISTOL From dawn 'til dusk you slave away;
Rest your feet on this still at the end of the day.
- JEAN HAYWARD A cut li'l "Teddy" bear for you
So when alone you won't be blue.
- MR. STEWART Here's the answer to your prayers:
A brand-new brush to clean the stairs.

To the class of '51 we leave the fun and headaches of being Seniors!

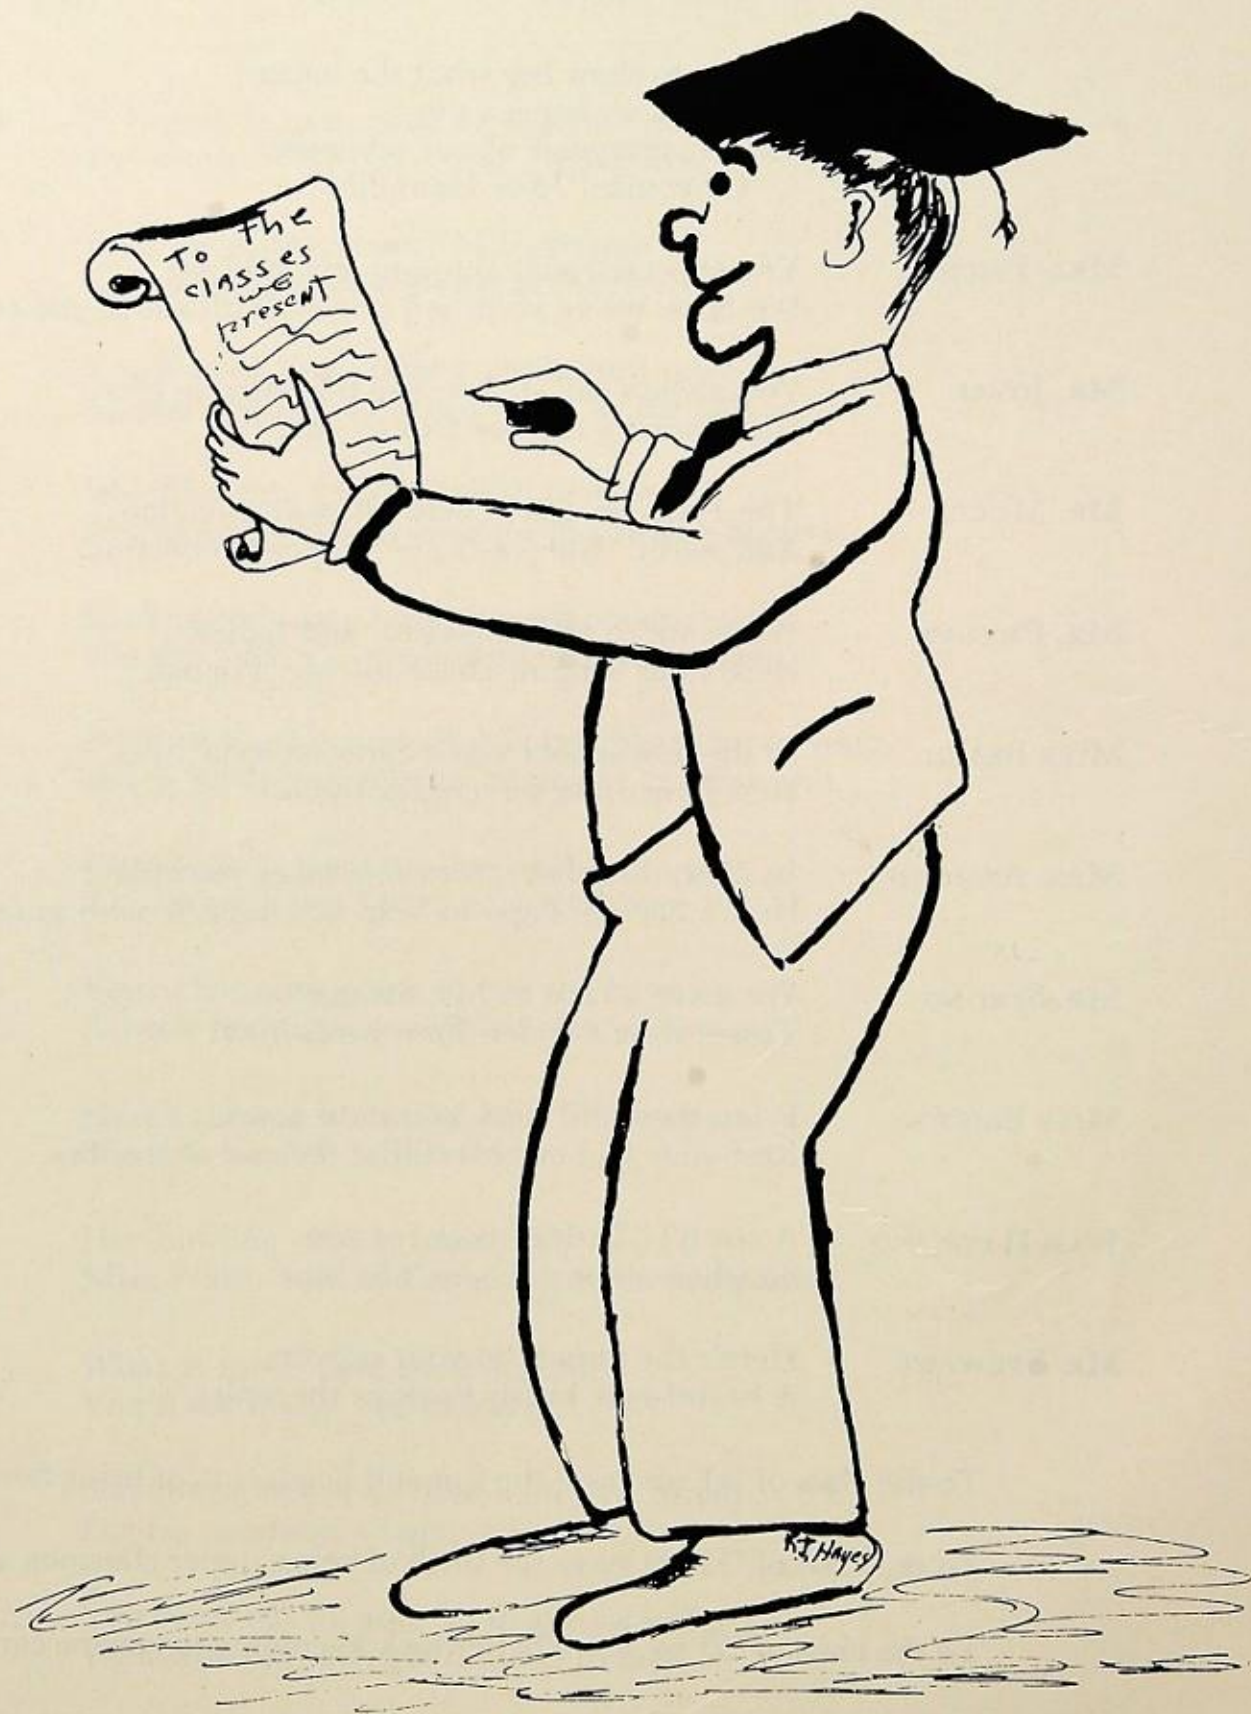

To the class of '52 we leave the thrill of being upper classmen at last!

To the class of '53 we leave better luck in coming magazine campaigns!

To the class of '54 we leave our condolences!

To Lewis — we leave!

JOSEPH JALOWIECKI	To you we present an eraser for freckles; It's guaranteed to remove all of your speckles.
JERRY KELLY	To you we give a ball of twine So you will always have a line.
EDWARD KNAPP	With the fairer sex you seem to rate; We give you a telephone to make a date.
STANLEY KUCINSKAS	Some vitamin pills for our Big Stan; They'll make you grow if anything can.
ROBERT LIGUORI	"A perfect saint is what you ain't, and what you'll never be"; But this halo for your curly hair will make you heavenly!
JOSEPH LIPPJA	To you we give a racing tip So behind in cash you'll never slip.
NORMAN MATHEWS	In the Senior Play your acting was "funny"; The Hollywood contract may bring you money.
ANTHONY MAURO	You skate backwards while wind is blowing Your rear-view mirror — watch where you're going.

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

JOSEPH MAURO	Your bright pink shirt with nary a patch Deserves a tie that'll exactly match.
GUY MERRIMAN	To you we give a little bed So you can rest your weary head.
JAMES MORELLI	Although cleats may offer more glamour These rubber-soled shoes will lessen the clamor.
FRED NEWELL	We give to you this "Vigoro" For the healthy plants you'll grow.
RICHARD O'HALA	This baseball you may always use When you get into big league news.
JOSEPH PALMIERI	You like the girls; the girls like you. So here's some pictures of your favorite few.
PETER PERMAL	Carrying boxes can drive one insane; A wagon will help to lessen the strain.
JOSEPH SABATELLA	In all your subjects you did excell; Here's a medal — you deserve it well!
RAYMOND SABATELLA	You're always ready for an argument, Ray; This muzzle will help you change your way.
EDWARD SLODZINSKI	Baseball is the game you love; So here for you is a fielder's glove.
LEONARD SMEDBERG	An appointment for a screen test we give to you, Since your class picture caused such a to-do.
PHILIP SMITH	He likes anything in ruffle or frill And so we saved a blonde doll for Phil.
BURTON STEVENS	All the girls look at you and sigh; Keep them away with this flashy tie.
RICHARD STANISH	We know you'll greet this chair with a smile 'Cause taking life easy is your style.
STEPHEN SULLIVAN	This gay ribbon we hope you'll wear To attract attention to your lovely hair!
DANIEL TANGNEY	A book on love for Dangerous Dan So you'll be a qualified Ladies' Man.
THOMAS TEDESCO	We hear that pool is your favorite game; We give you a cue to improve your aim.
FRANCIS THERIAULT	As a P.F.C. you've groans and gripes; To you we present some sergeant's stripes.
EDWARD TOMASIEWICZ	We hear you're quite adept at art; We give you a beret — now act the part.
WALTER WALONOSKI	Pastel shirts you have galore This money will help you buy some more.
JOSEPH YURCAK	Some nails to help you remember the day You built the stage for the Senior Play.

PROPHECY

By E. SANSEI

Class Prophecy

TEN YEARS LATER

It's about time I got to cleaning this attic. . . . Hmm — what's this? Oh — my old high school year book. Maybe I can just take a minute to glance at some of my old friends. Let's see. Oh, here's Larry Adamowicz! Who'd ever have thought he'd be the owner of the New Deluxe Pharmacy. I remember hearing that Ed Tomasiewicz is working as his soda jerk.

My, what pretty red hair Wanda Albrycht had! I wonder if she got that job at "Ceil Chapman's" that she wanted.

Joe Adams is just as slim as he ever was. He's racing jet cars now. I guess he learned how by racing up and down Academy Hill with Guy Merriman. Guy certainly is quite the wealthy man about town since he won that million dollars playing pool.

Jane Day and Pauline Bassola are heading the Commercial Department. Pauline just won the International Typing Contest in her spare time.

"Slim" Albrecht's football record has never been surpassed — he still reigns as a star. Slim has taken over the coaching of the football team. Buzzy Stevens, the former Lewis track star, heads the track team at Southington High. They promise to make their teams famous!

There's Patty Baehr's picture! I never would have dreamed that she would become a famous writer. I must get her new book "English Literature of the Victorian Period, Volume I."

Tommy Andrews rose to become an Admiral in the Navy and quite wealthy also. He is currently sponsoring a $1,000 contest on "Why I Like Lou Gehrig" in 100 words or less.

Dorothy Chalecki went on from school to become a medical secretary. A girl with such a friendly disposition is an asset to any doctor's office.

Edward Fusco is the only member of our class still in school! He recently received his Doctor's Degree from Columbia. He always maintained that he liked school.

Madeline Cioffi, Helen Hughes, and Pal Lawson were buddies in high school and now they're in the bakery business together. Madeline's the waitress; Helene is the bookkeeper; and Pal is official taster.

. . . Earle Cooley! What a sketch he was in high school! Now that Jack Benny has retired, Earle is No. 1 on the Hooper Rating. He's still using Count Ciervo for his straight man. What a radio program they've got! Brud Badgley and his Solid Seven, featuring Walt Walonowski as star saxophonist, provide the musical background. The other member of that gang did well for himself too. He's known in Hollywood as Pigeon Peck, but I remember him as Edge Knapp. Tex Stanish also made a hit in filmland. He's a famous Western star whom the ladies love because of that "young boyish look."

Phyllis Chestler, B.S., R.N., has been making a tour of the United States inspecting all the Schools of Nursing. With her are two of our old classmates, Ethel Carlson and Dawn Morley. They are considered experts in the art of taking temperatures.

Bob Carbone looked like the "Man of Distinction" in his class picture. Now he's become a model for the "I like Chesterfields because . . ." ads.

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

Look at that short haircut Jeanne Beck had! She had a hard time deciding whether to be a commercial artist or a physical education teacher, but physical ed. won out and Southington High gained a new gym instructor.

Ernie Coppola was here just yesterday delivering a grocery order. He told me that because of popular female request, he has hired Dan Tanguay to take care of all the deliveries from the dairy department.

A new Charm School has recently been opened by Gladys Dudzik. Gladys teaches the pupils the art of good grooming; Lois Gemmell is the hair stylist; Florence Sankowski offers courses in posture and grace. Stanley Kucinkas is giving a special lecture course in "The Kind of Woman a Man Likes." Mr. Kucinkas is an expert on this subject.

Dolores Burkhardt became a language teacher and has been traveling all through the Latin American countries. On her return, her new book, "The Place of Latin in the Modern World" will be published.

Danny Barrett came to our class in our senior year. I hear he's using his versatile wit in helping Walt Disney to make pictures.

Charlie Borysewicz owns that new model farm that's open for inspection to the public. You might know.

Rita Dlugos had a cute class picture. She's recently been voted "The Nurse We'd Most Like To Take Out Tonsils" by the American Medical Association.

Nancy Ellis and Nancy Fontana did such good work at making up the actors in our Senior Play that they decided to become cosmetic artists. They are known as Madame Helena and Madame Sophie. They practice all their new brainstorms on their personal secretary, Helen Whitlock.

Even in her class picture Carole Engstrom looked like a model. I saw her picture recently in a Drene Shampoo advertisement.

Speaking of models, Edward Deguzis recently received $10,000 for the use of his picture on the cover of a piece of music that is being revived. The song is "Oh! You Beautiful Doll."

Roger Fortier and Jerry Kelly were home on leave last week. My — do they look handsome in their Marine uniforms. They weren't so bad in civvies, either, if I remember correctly.

Elizabeth Feeney and Shirley Politz were also back recently for a visit. They have been employed by General Electric as private secretaries since their graduation.

Kay Hayes hasn't changed a bit! I saw her in a newsreel the other night receiving a medal from her WAC commander for being at inspection on time seven days in a row.

Joe Jalowiecki hasn't changed much either. He's still carting boxes around down at the First National but now he's been raised to the position of manager. "With every pound of butter goes a smile!"

Sheila Hurley and Nancy Rodriguez have graduated from accompanying the glee clubs at Lewis High to become professional pianists, specializing in twin piano work. On the side, Sheila plays pro-basketball and Nancy is a teacher of science at a local school.

Phil Glynn, our Salutorian, enjoyed high school chemistry so much that he has become a teacher of the subject and recently married one of the Halogen sisters—me!

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

Helen Kowaleski is currently appearing in a revival of "The Red Mill" on Broadway. Stevie Sullivan, the renowned music critic who gained his knowledge of the music world in Miss Beach's music appreciation, wrote in his column that Helen's performance was superb.

Another of my illustrious classmates who hit "The Great White Way" is Norman Mathews. He is currently appearing in "Macbeth."

Virginia LaPier and Roberto Liguori have become very successful as instructors in ballroom dancing.

Martha and Dorothy Luty have opened the "Little Tot's Nursery School." I saw Anna Rossi (I never can remember her married name) driving her two little boys there.

Earl Hartford — hmm. Wasn't he the one who won the Irish Sweepstakes? He always was a gambler.

Dear me, but wasn't my hair short in those days! That reminds me — I must get an appointment at the beauty salon. Molly Perrotti and Julia Palmeiri are doing so well that I always have to make an appointment at least a week in advance. While I'm there I must have Rose De Franco give me one of her expert manicures.

Joan Wilson is now opening a new theater in Southington in competition with the Colonial. Her business manager, Marjorie McKay, says that this venture will be very successful.

There's Joe Yurcak's picture. I hear his company is building a new night club for Fran Theriault out on Flanders Road. Fran is hiring Ed Folcik as head cook, Larry Hassett as comedian, and Pete Pernal as master of ceremonies. Irving Fallon is going to be swell in the band playing his trumpet. On the whole, it sounds like a winning combination.

My goodness — how this town has grown since I graduated from high school! I never even imagined that we would have two newspapers, and one of them "The Southington View," written almost entirely by my former classmates! Phil Smith is the editor; Leonard Smedberg writes the popular column, "Inside Southington"; Carolyn Thayer heads the advertising department. She is lucky to have such an experienced commercial artist as Nancy Hinkley to help her. Tommy Tedesco's column "Advice to the Lovelorn" is a very popular addition to the paper. Chuck Carbone has been circulation manager there since the paper was started. Remember her on the "Emblem" board?

Oh — Mary Mongillo. She was voted by the "big wheels" at Trumbull's, "the sweetest secretary they ever had."

And Lorraine Mongillo lives around the corner, only her name is Mrs. Dick DeBishop now, and she has several fine children.

Mrs. Pryor discovered after Lois Salvatore graduated, that she couldn't get along without her help, so Lois is now official Home Economics Assistant at Southington High School.

Edna Samsel went to college and medical school to get an M.D. after her name. She has become the first successful woman doctor in Southington. Any days you can see Edna and her nurse, Agnes Tews, making the house calls in their jeep.

Oh — Phyllis Secondo's picture reminds me that I must call her to reserve the Popular Restaurant for our class reunion this spring. Her father got a capable manager when she went to work for him.

L. H. S. CHRONICLE

I never would have dreamed that our Nellie Shepard would become a famous woman scientist. Just the other day I read that she had discovered the 120th element. What a gal!

Norma Spetz really had a nice class picture! She enjoyed business school so much that she returned there to teach.

Anita Zobbi is modeling in the new swank dress shop that Lenore Stasilowicz and Mary Zenuh have opened.

Shirley Wendt now has a private office at the Curtis Publishing Company. She achieved this high position through her efforts in the magazine campaigns at Lewis High. She was able to exert a little influence and as a result her two friends Gladys Uliasz and Ann Zakrewski got jobs as cover models for several popular women's magazines.

There's Joe Lippia's picture. The motto of his new garage is "If it has four wheels and a motor, we'll make it go!"

The Mauros, Joe and Anthony, now own the "Foamy Light Mattress Company." They personally test each mattress for eight hours before they sell it.

Howie Hewitt has made a name for himself in professional basketball. "All that I am, I owe to my training at Lewis High School," he said in a recent interview.

My — there's Jimmy Morelli! I heard him down at his grocery store still talking about that touchdown he made back in '49. And Fred Newell has opened a new golf driving range up on West Street known as "Newell's Nifty Driving Range."

Here's Joe Palmieri's picture and there on the street below is Joe with his wife and kiddies, out for a walk. No one could ask for a better husband.

There are the two Sabatellas. It makes me proud to think that the Valedictorian of my class has risen to receive the Nobel Prize for his contributions to the world in Nuclear Physics. And Ray did all right for himself too, only in a slightly different field. Lois Hayward, secretary to president "Rit" O'Hala of the Pexto, Wilcox, and O'Hala Company, says that Mr. O'Hala always demands his haircuts from Ray in person.

Bridget Vincent's teaching kindergarten over at Holcomb School. She always did have a way with children.

I saw Ed Slodzinski on television the other night. The Yanks sure got something when they bought him as first baseman.

My — I can hardly see the page anymore, it's so dark. I hadn't realized that I had spent so much time looking at this old "Chronicle." Well, I'll take it downstairs now and finish reading it after dinner. I want to see how closely the Prophecy followed the actual lives of the gang.
